BIO:

Dar Meshi is an assistant professor in the College of Communication Arts and Sciences at Michigan State University. He investigates social media use to understand how information conveyed through social media (e.g., “likes”) motivates us and influences our decisions. To achieve his research aims, Dar uses behavioural and neuroimaging methods with both adolescents and adults. Dar earned his B.S. in biology from the University of California at Los Angeles, and his Ph.D. from Columbia University in New York.
